The question was asked if they should be informed of that or wait until they expressed a wish to become a honorary member. It was thought best not to take further action and to lay it on the table. The meeting then adjourned. And the other members of the society came in and the business of the convention was taken up. Mr Morris bill for care of horses was $6.25. he called the bill $5.00 giving the society a $1.25 for which a vote of thanks was given to him. $3.15 was paid for ham. Mr R W. Stevens $3.25 for stove bill. There was a $1.80 given to the society. The amount to be paid out of the treasure was $9.55. It was voted to expel the report written by Mrs. Doane on the Convention. The meeting then adjourned.

Secretary's Report of The Dana Society of Christian Endeavor for 1902.

Our numbers have not been largely augmented in the past year.A number of the young people who have met with us and helped by their presence and voices in the singing have gone from Dana to other towns .As yet the members of our junior society are not advanced enough in years to give us more t han occasional help.The number of active members at present is seven ,associate members thirteen ,juniors fourteen.
The meetings in spite of small numbers have been maintained.The preponderance of older people is (though seemingly unavoidable at present) accountable for the lack of enthusiasm and of participation by the younger members of the community.We older people not having the usual outlet for the expression of our spiritual experiences,the mid week Church prayer meeting,are apt to monopolize the time. We are unwilling or unabne to adopt new ideas and new waysthat interest the y young and the younger people are intimidated and repressed and depressed by our old fashioned interpretations of things spiritual.
Another obstacle is the spirit of liberality in religious belief that pervades this community Dana may be said to be the birthplace of the spirit of the religion of toleration and forgiveness once so obnoxious to the orthodox puritan churcoh out of which this denomination was evelved.The old feud is st ll rememdered by inheritance and by legend and there is still an idea of insurmountable differences which in real ity long ago ceased to exist.It Is doubtful if there is a person in th house to day who believes in a literal place of torment by fire for eternity for the sinning human being,,.There is a certain broadening element in our meetings in the fact that they are conducted by method ists, Second adventists and there is a suspicion,by unitarians as wel as Congregationalists.Our chief problems seem to be how may yougn and old adapt them selves to each otherthat the spiritual needs of both may be satisfied.How may social unity be promoted so that the religion professed by some may be respected by all. How may our personal intercourse be maintained that the brotherhood we profess may be more than an empty word to be spoken in our meetings on Sunday and the feeling it stands for may not be violated all through the week.
This is the help we hope to get through this meeting,We look to it for new hope and inspiration for better , truer endeavor,for the year that is before us.
